My name is Layla S. Carnesecca, and my ancestor is my Grandmother Shervie. I chose this ancestor because she seemed like a fun, exciting, and nice person. I will be talking about her beginning life, mid-life, and death.

My Grandmother, Shervie Ann Carnesecca, was born on March 22, 1962, to Janet and Joseph Carnesecca. She was born in Mapleton, in Springville, Utah and she is my father's mother. My Grandmother grew up as an adopted child. She was adopted by a family of Italian descendant. She also grew up on a big orchard where she spent most of her time playing. She attended Springville Elementary, Junior high, and High School. She got very good grades in high school, and joined the pep club. She had three brothers, two of them were adopted, one of them died in his early years. Her family owned a trailer in a small town called Scofield.

My Grandmother never attended any college, but worked at a hinky factory for a while, then about the time she had my dad she got a job at McDonalds. She never got married, but had a boyfriend when she was pregnant, however he left before my dad was born. It was hard for them when my dad was growing up. She had three kids Robby, my dad, Krystina, and Nikki. She loved going fishing with my dad in Scofield.

She started smoking when her middle child was born, she only smoked because of her anxiety, and she was known to say it made her calmer. When she worked at McDonalds, she was known for her guessing jars of jelly beans, M&M's, taffy, ect. She made these jars for work parties. She tried to do anything she could to help others with anything within her control. She loved making others happy, and was very fearless. Shirley had one grandchild before she died of lung cancer.

I have enjoyed learning about my Grandmother's life, and how she lived. She seemed like the kind of person I would like to be, exciting, fun, kind, excellent, I really wish I could have met her. You see, it is very important to learn about our ancestors, because we can (1) learn from others' mistakes, and (2) try to be like them in their positive attributes.

Great Ideas
