My grandma's name is Vicki Ebert, and her husband's name is Scott. She was born March 31st, 1960 in Salt Lake City, Utah. She still lives in Salt Lake City. Her mom's side of the family was from Italy. Her dad's side of the family was from Germany. Her grandpa came to Ellis Island when he came to America. When they asked him his name he lied to them and told them his name was Carl Retzlaff, but his real name was Carl Hause. She didn't find out that her real legal name was supposed to be Hause until she was about 50 yrs old. My grandma was raised her whole life not knowing her real name. I was her first biological grandchild.

My grandma has a lot of favorite things. Her favorite color is turquoise blue. Her favorite animal is dogs; she has one named Daphne. When I was little I couldn't say Daphne so I called her Naffie and my grandma thought it was so cute. She also really likes butterflies. She loves hosting parties and events. Every time we see her she brings us clothes and a box of candy. She tries to see us as much as she can, usually we see her every other month.

She is very generous and gives everyone gifts. She always does service for other people. She is pretty good at cooking but she cuts the fat off the bacon to make it more healthy and my dad says that's a big no no. She makes healthy smoothies and I don't like them. Her house is 2 stories tall, and always clean (except when we are there).

She is a hard worker. In her life she has had jobs as a court reporter, dance teacher, waitress, flight attendant, and more. She spent her whole life dancing and is still a dance teacher. Recently she has not been able to teach. She had hip surgery. Her first doctor did it wrong and made her right leg an inch and a half longer than her left. She just barely got it done again and this doctor did it correctly. Her downstairs is a dance gym where she teaches dance. Most of the walls in the gym are covered in really big mirrors. In her dance gym there is a clear glass bowl filled with little individually wrapped candies and big yoga balls. It also has other stuff like exercise equipment. On the side there is a guest room with a closet, bathroom, and a room. It also has a bathroom on the side.

In conclusion, I really love my grandma Vicki and hope you have loved reading about her life. Maybe one day you will even get to meet her.
