

---

Public sentiment is pretty thoroughly aroused over the liquor question and a prohibition ticket is one of the probabilities. Several persons have approached us on the subject, and it seems that a move of this kind is in contemplation, by a considerable number of people. A call for a meeting will be found in another column, which all persons favoring improvement along these lines should attend.

---