

SURGEON FOR HOSPITAL

Hundreds of persons in this section of the state will be pleased to learn that Dr. George W. Middleton of Salt Lake City has accepted the position of associate surgeon in the Southern Utah hospital.

Dr. A. N. Leonard, the superintendent, found it necessary in order to care for the increasing cases requiring the best surgical skill, to secure the assistance of another capable surgeon to assist him and Dr. Middleton being fully acquainted with local conditions, and informed of the increasing demand for the services of a surgeon, readily accepted the opportunity to enter the local field.

Under the arrangements which have been made, Dr. Middleton will make monthly trips to this city and will remain as long as is necessary to care for patients needing surgical attention.

Citizens of this section of the state will greatly appreciate this plan as it will no longer be necessary for those who must undergo a delicate operation, to make the long trip to Salt Lake.

We bespeak for the hospital the same, or greater, patronage, than it has heretofore enjoyed.
