

Local Dentist Takes Son Into Partnership

Dr. O. Anderson, local dentist, announces that he is enlarging his offices located above the Southern Utah Power company and that as soon as the remodeling is completed, will take his son, Dr. Forrest Anderson, into partnership with him.

The doctors are making extensive improvements in their offices and announce that they are adding a large amount of new equipment of the latest design, including a new X-ray machine. When completed, the suite will consist of a reception room, two dental offices, an X-ray room, and considerable storage space. The offices will be completely redecorated and when completed, will compare very favorably with any like offices in the state.

Dr. Forrest Anderson was an honor graduate of the dental school of Northwestern University in Evanston, Illinois, last June, where he won several honors due to the high type of work he did. Since graduation, Dr. Anderson has received offers to practice dentistry in several cities in northern Utah, all of which he has turned down in order to go into partnership with his father.

It is expected that the new offices will be ready for occupancy within the very near future at which time the doctors cordially invite their friends to call in and inspect their new quarters.
