
Local Men Make Trip Down Colorado River

Gustive O. Larson, director of Cedar City Institute of Religion, and Dr. Reed W. Farnsworth, left Friday to participate in an Explorer Scout excursion down the Colorado river. Mr. Larson is traveling with the group as historian and Dr. Farnsworth as physician in charge of health protection.

The two Cedar City men joined the northern Utah group at Springville Friday evening and were scheduled to begin the boat trip at Hite, Garfield county, sometime Sunday, and to reach Lee's Ferry in Arizona about six days later.

They expect to return to Cedar City this week end.

After joining the group at Springville the trip was to be made by automobile to Hite by way of Blanding, San Juan county, and over Bear's Ears Pass to Hite.
